

→ Integrity

We believe people want to do business with a company that practices open communication and honesty, one that still believes in good old fashioned manners and strong work ethic.

A company that cares about the success of their employees, vendors and dealers. A company committed to doing the right thing EVERY TIME. One that takes pride in maintaining a strong moral compass while aiming to offer the best product in the market.

Aegis System

Taken from Greek mythology, Aegis means "shield" or "protective cloak" which we feel is an excellent description of what a cargo trailer's walls and roof are supposed to be.

Protection for your valuable cargo.

Industry standard "screwless" walls tend to have issues with ripples and seams popping due to metal expansion when the metal heats up or when the trailer flexes with heavy use. Single piece aluminum roofs will also flex and flap as they age. The industry standard is to rely on caulking products to keep the elements out, but they typically fail with time.

We did something about it.

The Aegis system is a revolutionary mounting system that allows for flex, expansion and contraction that is not reliant upon caulk to keep the wind, dust and water out. It looks awful nice too!

- Ripple resistant exterior wall panels
- Self flashing roof
- Proprietary self flashing extrusion

Partnership

Cross Trailers is committed to our dealer network.

We are successful because our dealers are successful. To ensure that success, Cross Trailers DOES NOT sell direct to retail, DOES NOT own or operate company stores, and DOES NOT distribute through a "Big Box" retail channel.

Protected area for your dealership.

Cross Trailers offers consistent support through our interactive dealer portal. Our online site offers accurate quote creation, availability to purchase stock inventory and parts, check "real time" order status and submit registration and warranty information.

Reliable answers at your fingertips.

It's called ease of doing business. At Cross Trailers we believe that honest communication is the key to a positive partnership. We respect our dealers viewpoint and are here to listen.

When you call our office you will always talk to a real person as it is our mission to treat everyone we encounter with kindness and grace. We are committed to providing the best steel brand trailer in the market while keeping our personal and business integrity front and center.

TRUST IS THE DIFFERENCE.
